Truman Warns U.S. Beware New Acts Of Aggression

'Peace' Talks May Be Cover-up For New Attacks

President Points Out Possible New Dangers In Detroit Speech

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

DETROIT, July 28.—President Truman warned today that Korean "peace" talks may be a Communist cover-up for "new acts of aggression" by Soviet Russia in Asia or by its satellites in Europe.

The chief executive said huge Soviet air, land and sea forces now directly menace U.S. territory on Alaska, and are massed against Japan in Manchuria. Meanwhile, he declared Soviet-controlled armies in Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary are speeding warlike preparations on the Yugoslav border in Eastern Europe.

Reds Have 4,000,000

The President told a huge gathering at the great industrial and arms production center of Detroit that Russia now has 4,000,000 men under arms in Europe and Asia, and is speeding vast quantities of weapons, planes and supplies to Red China while the cease-fire talks proceed. He also warned that the Soviets have "forced" Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary to increase their armies beyond treaty limits.

Mr. Truman lashed out heatedly at "doubters and defeatists" who, he said, "are using the smear and the big lie for personal publicity and partisan advantage, heedless of the damage they do to the country."

He declared that they are "trying to stir up trouble and suspicion."

Rug Controversy Looms

PUEBLO, COLO.—Mr. and Mrs. Hugh V. Giltner, and his sister, Deloris, look at a huge leopard skin rug sent home by Sgt. Elvine Giltner from Korea. The rug, 18 feet, 11 inches long, and nearly 8 feet wide, is made from skins of 48 leopards and valued at $100,000. Giltner bought it for about $61. Korean diplomats have indicated they would take action to recover the "national treasure" which may once have been a showpiece in the palace of Queen Min, assassinated in 1911.

Two Controversies Raging On Defense Policy Plans

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS)—Two controversies raged over the Pentagon today, touching defense department policy on foreign aid and the Korean war.

In the Korean argument, defense department spokesman Clayton Fritchey blasted an army briefing officer for saying that the communists in Korea were "hanging on the ropes" at the start of current peace talks.

The other split developed when defense secretary Marshall told the senate foreign relations committee that the U. S. plans to put 400,000 troops and airmen in Europe by the end of next year.

Another officer said he thought Marshall's troop estimate might have been a slip of the tongue.

Members of the senate armed services committee also expressed interest in the secretary's troop estimate, saying it was larger than they expected. They also questioned Marshall's statement that he hopes for no cuts, but that if some were necessary, he would rather reduce spending in the U. S. than slash military aid to Europe.

Armed services chairman Russell D. G. said he will ask that the 8.5 billion dollar aid bill, upon which Marshall was testifying, be recommitted to his group when it is sent to the floor by the foreign aid group. This could cause considerable delay in final action on the measure.

Arrest Nine In Big Dope Ring

Believe Arrests Will Smash Ring Doing $10,000,000 Business

NEW YORK, July 28.—(INS)—An international ring doing a minimum $10,000,000 a year business in dope smuggling and counterfeiting on operations allegedly bossed by Charles "Lucky" Luciano was smashed today with the arrest of eight men and a woman.

Assistant United States Attorney Eugene F. Roth said the ring smuggled into the United States from France and Italy 50 pounds of pure heroin a month as the largest group of illicit importers ever uncovered.

Roth said the ring members belonged to the underworld society the Mafia and added that ten additional men are being hunted and are expected to be in custody by tonight.

He put the ring's dope business alone at more than $3,000,000 a year.

Seized with the nine, he said, was $100,000 in bogus $10 and $20 bills and added that this group was the same which had been flooding the country in recent months with "hundreds of thousands of dollars worth" of "exceptionally fine imitations."

The crack down was the result of two years' work by federal agencies which had planted their own men in the ring which Roth said was bossed from Italy by exiled vice king Luciano.

Enemy Convoy Of 400 Vehicles Under Attack

Marine Airmen Make Attack On Convoy Headed For Kumson

By RAFAEL STEINBERG
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, July 28.—Marine airmen attacked a 400-vehicle enemy convoy in North Korea Friday night smashing one-fourth of it, and the Eighth Army lunged into "stubborn" Communist resistance on the east-central battlefield.

The leatherneck pilots reported that the heaviest enemy road traffic was bound for the shattered east coast port of Wonsan.

Bound For Kumson Presumably the heavy communist traffic was bound for the enemy bastion of Kumson, below which allied ground attacks were being pressed, accompanied by the heaviest UN casualties in nearly three weeks.

Front dispatches said the allied assault northeast of Yangju was continuing despite a series of Red counter-punches. Allied casualties (Continued on Page Two)

President Will Check Detroit Unemployment

By ROBERT G. NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—President Truman flew to Detroit today to deliver a major speech and check on the temporary unemployment caused by the changeover from auto to arms production.

Plans for easing the unemployment situation in Detroit, caused by the cutback in automobile production and the changeover to plane and tank production, will be during his one-day Michigan visit.

Sen. Moody, Michigan's new Democratic senator, said in Washington that the president will order (Continued on Page Two)

Pole-Hopping British Bomber Delayed

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 28.—(INS)—Engine trouble today delayed return of the pole-hopping British bomber Ariels to Great Britain.

Wing Commander R. T. Frogley of the Royal Air Force said an exhaust valve is broken on one of the four engines and a new one is needed. It probably will have to be obtained from Canada or the United States, he said.

The plane will not undertake its 4100-mile return flight to Great Britain until the new valve is installed.

The plane flew from Keflavik, Iceland, to Fairbanks over the North Pole in 18 hours and 54 minutes. It will return to Manby, England, by the way of the Polar Regions.

CITIES BLACKED OUT MEXICO CITY, July 28.—(INS)—Two cities in western Mexico were completely blacked out today as all electrical power was cut off following a strike of electrical workers.

Employees of power companies supplying Colima and Ciudad Guzman walked out at 1 p. m. (EDT) yesterday after demanding a blanket 40 per cent salary increase. Afternoon negotiations failed to find a solution.

Local Pilot Is Killed In Plane Crash

John J. Harsh Dies When Plane Crashes Near Sharpsville

John Jacob Harsh, aged 27 years, of 466 Neshannock avenue, veteran of World War Two, and an experienced pilot, was instantly killed when his rented plane, nose dived into the earth, on the James Bales farm, near Sharpsville, Pa., Friday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock.

Mr. Harsh had rented the plane, an Aeronca Champion, from the Watson Airport, at Youngstown, O., about 2:15 o'clock, the accident occurring a little more than two hours later. The cause of the crash has not been determined, but it is possible that he was attempting to make an emergency landing because he was low in gas. Officials at the Youngstown field said that the plane had about enough gas to carry him for two hours.

Witnesses Crash John Bales, on whose parents farm, the plane crashed, saw the accident from a nearby cornfield. He stated that the plane did not appear to be in trouble, but that it suddenly dove into the ground from tree-top height, after circling the field. Rescuers had to clear away the wreckage before Harsh's body could be exhumed.

Harsh was employed at the Bossert plant here. He served overseas in World War Two, and was holder of the Purple Heart.

He was born in Warren, O., January 22, 1924, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harsh, of 236 Lowell avenue, Warren, O., who survive him, along with a sister and brother, Mrs. Charles A. Prugh, Jr., of 466 Neshannock avenue and Harry Harsh, Jr., of Warren, O. He also is survived by his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Book, of 462 Neshannock avenue.

The body was taken to the Love funeral home in Sharpsville, and later removed to the Robert funeral home in Warren, O. Burial arrangements have not been completed and will be announced later. Burial, however, will take place in Warren.

'Buffer Zone' Parley Issue

KOREA—Map above shows problem now under discussion at Kaesong peace conference. The Communists are known to want a 10 kilometer (6 1/4 miles) "buffer zone" somewhere along the 38th parallel, which would force a United Nations withdrawal of up to 20 miles. The United Nations are seeking a cease-fire line more related to the current battle line. The present front, anchored along a chain of mountains and the shortest distance across the peninsula, offers the United Nations forces a line easier to defend than the 38th parallel.

Rupture In Relations, U.S. And Hungary May Develop

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Diplomatic quarters said today that a rupture of relations between Hungary and the U. S. may result from President Truman's decision to press mass expulsion charges against the Red satellite in the United Nations.

The president said Friday that the state department has evidence that the Hungarian regime has forcibly evacuated thousands of persons from their homes in what he termed a "wanton disregard of every principle of right and decency."

U. S. Not Instituting Break Diplomats said the break, if it comes, will not be instituted by the U. S., although Washington officials presumably would not oppose such action. Mr. Truman's statement leaves the next move outside of possible UN action, to Budapest.

Compromise Price Control Bill Is Ready

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—A compromise price control bill, permitting "roll-forwards" as well as rollbacks in non-agricultural products and services, is before the house today for final action.

The senate Friday night adopted the measure, which sets a "pre-Korean" plus added cost formula. The house is expected to approve the bill and send it to President Truman Monday.

Conferees agreed unanimously on the bill to replace the present controls extension which expires at midnight Tuesday.

Its terms provide that no prices can go above the level of July 26, 1951, except when this is necessary for retailers to maintain their "historical margin of profit."

F.B.I. Greet Pair Of Stowaways On Arrival In U.S.

NEW YORK, July 28.—(INS)—The FBI was on hand to greet a pair of stowaways aboard the liner Atlantic when it docked in New York today.

One is a German youth, Hans Espig, 22, of Frankfurt, who slipped on board the ship at Genoa to be with his girl friend who is emigrating to Canada.

The other is a 29-year-old New York girl, Ruth Maxine Hirsch, who originally went aboard the liner when it sailed from New York on June 29. Miss Hirsch said she had stowed away to return to her "spiritual home in Italy."

Neither of the luckless pair, however, accomplished anything except a free sea crossing by their illegal passage.

Their pending session with the FBI climaxed other disappointments.

Miss Hirsch was put to work as a stewardess on both crossings and only saw Italy through the ship's portholes.

Espig's sweetheart Lisa Schmidt, disembarked at Halifax, three days ago, but the German youth was barred from going ashore.

Allied And Red Negotiators In Parley Balked

Neither Side Will Agree To Zone Asked By Other Group

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, U. N. S.)

UN TRUCE CAMP NEAR KAESONG, July 28.—Allied and Red negotiators collided squarely today over the issue of where to draw an armistice line across Korea, and both sides refused to budge from their opposing positions.

In a tense debate at Kaesong, the Communists insisted on establishing a bluffer zone along an area understood to straddle the controversial 38th parallel, which would mean long withdrawals by Allied troops.

The United Nations delegation replied with equal insistence on another demilitarized belt reportedly approximating the present battlefield, most of which lies inside Red North Korea.

Positions Unchanged

Saturday's lengthy 12th meeting of the Kaesong conference ended with the positions of both sides on the vital cease-fire line issue "not changed," the UN supreme command announced.

A communique reported only "little progress" made in two hours and 27 minutes of verbal conflict waged in "an atmosphere of cool military formality."

The 13th session of the parley was set for 11 o'clock Sunday morning (9 p. m. Saturday EDT), when a showdown in the crucial controversy may come.

A spokesman at the UN truce camp below Kaesong said the conferees failed to reach a single area of agreement Saturday.

Little Progress

Air Force Brig. Gen. William F. Nuckols, briefing newsmen, reported:

"Very little, if any, progress was made and the divergent viewpoints remain practically unchanged."

He revealed that the principal Communist emissary delivered an emphatic statement rejecting a detailed UN plan for the demilitarized zone and urging the Communists proposal instead.

The chief allied delegate made two statements replying to the Red arguments which he rejected while reiterating the UN stand.

Nuckols could give the correspondents no idea of what might happen in Sunday's meeting. He provided no indication as to who (Continued on Page Two)

Oh these are the days I would like to swim in an ocean of lemonade, and on the bank there would be a grove inviting with coolness and shade. Or I'd like to eat through an ice cream hill, with a gallon of pop in my hand, for these are the days when the summer sun is bathing this happy land. And do I grouse on the daily heat, ah no, merely let me say, I remember the snows of the winter time, it's hot 82 today.

The New Castle district was visited by several electrical storms, one late Friday evening and the other around 4:30 o'clock this morning. In the storm this morning, the lightning was about the sharpest experienced this summer. Several flashes seemed to hit inside the city. The worst of the storm seemed to circle the city as only about six-tenths of an inch of rain fell. It was a very nice shower, however, and good for the crops.

A Pa News reader reports that the traffic light problem at the Central Fire station which will occur when the new bridge is opened could be easily remedied if the city should use the lights operating on curb poles and one could be placed just south of the fire department driveway where traffic would stop and not block the drive of the Central Fire Department as now is feared.

Apply Coating On New Bridge And Approaching

Work was started this morning on applying the bituminous coating on the approaches and flooring of the new Grove street bridge, which will wind up the work, except for putting in the bridge railings.

A two inch surface is to be applied to the base of the roadway of the approaches and the bridge, which work should be finished sometime next week.

It is understood that permission has been granted to make some substitutions in the original construction of the railings, it being impossible to get the materials specified.

Whether the bridge will be opened to traffic before the railing is completed, or not, cannot be ascertained at this time.

tries reached their lowest point when Mr. Truman called the reported banishment "brutal acts" and "a flagrant violation" of the human rights provision in the Hungarian peace treaty.

The chief executive said the evidence will be submitted to UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie in order to "expose this situation to public view and render the Hungarian government accountable before the world for its infamous conduct."

Conditions Existing

Information reaching the state department indicates a widespread purge in Hungary and the following conditions:

Political dissidents, particularly those of any substantial means, are forced to move to the country and work as peasants. Some peasants who have failed to meet farm quotas reportedly are forced to work in mines or factories.

All citizens are forced to have passports to move from one part of the country to another. All have been expelled from the area around the Yugoslav border where Hungary has been massing troops and holding maneuvers.

would start speaking at the 13th session, saying that both delegations "just about talked themselves out" in restating their positions Saturday.

The spokesmen refused to guess what kind of a statement might open Sunday's talks or who would make it.

Dark And Dismal

He said the Saturday meeting was held in a physically "dark and dismal" atmosphere with frequent rainstorms beating a tattoo on the roof and windows of the conference house.

The only light in the conference room, Nukolski reported, was furnished by four bare electric bulbs strung to temporary wiring. The two chief delegates had just about enough light to read their statements.

While the conferees tangled over the question of a military dividing line, more than 5,000 persons staged a demonstration in the South Korean capital of Seoul against any armistice zone based on parallel 38. They carried placards with such slogans as "No 38th Parallel" and "Keep Going to the (Korean-Manchurian) Boundary."

More Forceful

Nukolski, who sits in at the Kaesong talks, said Saturday's meeting was opened by Gen. Nam Il, head of the North Korean-Chinese delegation, with a 41-minute statement recounting the Communist stand.

The North Korean general, Nukolski related, was more forceful than usual. He punctuated his remarks by nodding his head in cadence with his phrases and tapping a pencil on the table.

After he finished, Vice Adm. Charles Turner Joy, chief allied delegate, asked for a recess of two hours and 45 minutes "to consider your report." The five allied delegates then retired to the UN quarters in Kaesong, a half mile from the conference house, and conferred among themselves.

Restates UN Position

"The delegation received no instructions from the base camp over the established communication channels," Nukolski said.

After the recess Joy read a prepared statement answering Nam Il's remarks and restating the basic UN position on the cease-fire line question. Nukolski said it was "further" clarification of Joy's statement of Friday.

The spokesman described the atmosphere as tense and said his notes showed that Nam Il "tums on the table" figures and shows other signs of inattention which normally he keeps pretty well under control.

The officer described Joy's delivery as "impersonal, thorough and not at all emotional."

At mid-afternoon, Joy asked for a 30-minute recess, from which he returned with another 14-minute prepared statement. It was then Nukolski wrote in his notes that "thus far there is no indication of the development of an area of agreement during the day's discussion."

commodities and services, which includes most food except meats, fruits and vegetables, is set between Jan. 1 and June 24, 1950. Added to such prices can be higher costs of materials, labor, factories, selling, advertising, paper work and administration.

"Unreasonable and excessive" costs can be rejected by OPS.

The bill provides that no ceiling price on any non-agricultural material or commodity may be lower than the price prevailing just before the order is issued or between Jan. 25 and Feb. 24, 1951, whichever is lower.

The ban on livestock slaughter quotas was kept in the bill, since it would have been challenged on parliamentary grounds in the house.

Conference chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) and Sen. C. B. Smith (R-Ind.) said they will introduce a new amendment to permit livestock quotas.

Both senators said open hearings will be held by the senate banking committee to "get at the truth" on whether quotas tend to prevent or increase black market operations.

ists of the danger. Before the evening was very young, one of the lanterns were missing. A short while before, lanterns were stolen from a sidewalk project.

A rush for the windows was made by many local residents about 4:30 a.m. today as the rain came down in torrents. The jagged lightning and heavy thunder kept many light sleepers awake for some little time. The rain although torrential, was appreciated by gardeners.

In a note to the Pa Newc column, a reader asks that children be more cautious in wading in local streams. One young fellow received a severe artery and tendon cut while wading the Neshannock Creek and only through the alertness of the writer of the note, was the youth saved from loss of much blood. He was treated at a local doctor's office.

Contrary to local opinion, the large turnpike bridge between Mt. Jackson and Enon Valley, will travel over the state route rather than under it. Work on building the pillars for the turnpike span progresses. The entire length of the toll road is bee-hive of activity in this county.

The peculiar worm, which was brought to the office of The News about ten days ago, by Thomas D. Hairston, of R. D. 2, has been identified by state entomologists, as a "rat-tailed maggot," the young of the syrphus fly. These insects comprise quite a family, it is stated. This information was received by County Agent L. C. Dayton, this morning.

The President charged that Soviet Russia has built up the armies of its eastern European satellites recently to a point "far greater" than the size agreed upon in treaties Russia signed in 1947.

He said that Rumania, Bulgaria and Hungary have been forced to move their civilian populations out of a thirty mile deep area all along their borders with Yugoslavia, where the Tito government threw off the yoke of Kremlin domination.

Many Great Dangers
"As your President, I am telling you that the dangers in other parts of the world are just as great as they are in Korea."

"Every day reports come to my desk about Soviet military preparations around the world."

"I wish everyone of you could see these reports and receive this same information, you would give up any thought that the danger is over. You would be just as anxious as I am to see that this country builds up its armed forces, equips them with the most modern weapons, and helps us to arm our allies."

"PEACE" TALKS MAY BE COVER-UP FOR NEW ATTACKS

cation between the people and their government". He added: "never, not even in the bitterest political campaigns, have I seen such a flood of lies and slander as is now pouring forth over the country".

In a major foreign policy speech at the celebration of Detroit's 250th anniversary, Mr. Truman declared:

"Actions like these are no indication of peaceful intentions. They (Soviet Russia) may talk about peace, but... they are putting themselves in a position where they can commit new acts of aggression at any time."

Cannot Let Down Our Guard
"We cannot let down our guard, no matter what happens in Korea."

The President frankly stated he does not know what the Communists are up to in the present Russian-inspired Korean discussions.

"We do not yet know whether the Communists really desire peace in Korea or whether they are simply trying to gain by negotiations what they have not been able to gain by conquest."

"We intend to find out. The talks can be successful if the Communists are in fact ready to give up aggression in Korea."

"But whatever happens in Korea, we must not make the mistake of jumping to the conclusion that the Soviet rulers have given up their ideas of world conquest."

Action Is What Counts
"They may talk about peace, but action is what counts."

"And what they have been doing is quite clear. They are putting themselves in a position where they can commit new acts of aggression at any time."

The President said American territory, itself, is now menaced by huge Russian armies in Asia, across from Alaska.

Making this disclosure, Mr. Truman said:

"The Russians themselves have more than four million men under arms in Europe and the Far East. There are heavy concentrations of Soviet air, land, and sea forces in the Russian provinces along the Manchurian border, across from Japan, and across from Alaska."

Many Great Dangers
"As your President, I am telling you that the dangers in other parts of the world are just as great as they are in Korea."

"Every day reports come to my desk about Soviet military preparations around the world."

"I wish everyone of you could see these reports and receive this same information, you would give up any thought that the danger is over. Part Of Armed Force

The adoption of an agenda for discussions to end the thirteen-month old war in Korea has raised new hopes that future international discussions can be solved by peaceful means.

But it also has thrown emphasis upon the salient part that armed force plays in the world of the present day.

And in this respect, the decision of five European nations to create a unified army under a single command assumes an ever-increasing importance.

To Pool Fighting Resources

The military leaders of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium and Luxembourg have decided to pool their fighting resources on a basis of absolute equality and believe that within less than two years they can supply 20 full divisions. This would approximate 600 thousand men, a tremendous addition to the other North Atlantic Treaty forces being built up by Gen. Eisenhower.

Each country involved has agreed to drop all "nationalistic" concepts and to consider the joint force not merely as a union of fighting men but as a "European" army.

This is to be its sole designation. But to the layman questions that inevitably ill have an important bearing are certain to arise.

There is language for one thing. One of Major Problems.

This always has been one of the major problems of continental Europe. Luxembourg may speak both French and German. Their geographical situation at a European crossroads makes this necessary, as in the case of Switzerland.

But except for residents of both sides of the Rhine, there is little interchange of tongue between France and Germany. Belgium itself has two different languages—French and Flemish.

Optimists throughout the ages have tried to develop some universal tongue, all of them with scant success.

Yet European observers who have not reached the stage of utmost cynicism are prone to express keen satisfaction over the Paris military agreement as being, in any case, a definite step forward.

Emphasize Fact

They emphasize the fact that a full six months of discussion preceded the understanding. At no time was there any noticeable hostility. And there was no air of discouragement even when the Korean situation looked hopeless. The Iranian oil dispute threatened a Middle Eastern war and while the Soviet Union made increasingly hostile gestures toward Marshal Tito's Yugoslavia.

It seemed that on one of the rare occasions in history, the European nations with all their trade and tariff barriers and traditional nationalistic differences, had decided that there is some practical, common ground. Future events stemming from this conference may be of tremendous importance to the world.

A military agreement is certain to give impetus to many other plans for European cooperation that long have been brewing in the minds of continental leaders.

Congress of Europe Boes

The Congress of Europe, which meets at Strasbourg, has bogged down to some degree despite the support of men like Winston Churchill.

One of the reasons for this was the inherent distrust of Germany by France.

But representatives of the West German Republic have been admitted as observers. And brilliant and understanding men like Andre Francois-Poncet, the French high commissioner for Germany, have gone deeper than their predecessors in attempting to plumb the minds of people who have been enemies of the past and to close the gaps that have so long existed.

It is highly likely that in the Paris discussions, the delegates remembered the words of Benito Mussolini who always maintained that war is "the natural state of mankind."

There were many who disagreed with Mr. Duce at the time, and certainly that number has been multiplied time and again during the ensuing years.

The present Western theory is that armies can be built and maintained as instruments of preserving peace. This in any case is the firm conviction of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, whose aspirations have prodded Europe into a new concept of cooperation.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

EFFECTIVE WAY TO TRAIN CHILD

In this column I have said that we should carefully draw the line between what we want the child to do and what we want him not to do. I have emphasized the simple principle: Make pleasant the many things you want him to do and painful only the few things you want him never to do. Therefore, limit commands in these early years to a few negative ones. Don't make positive commands then, make positive suggestions and requests instead.

When you make a command, you imply that if it is not promptly obeyed by the child he will immediately (if possible) get some kind of pain or discomfort. Tell the youngster, three, who has deliberately thrown a block against the window, not to do it again. If he does, immediate physical pain, as by spanking on his bare thigh or bare hand, might with only one application keep him from repeating this forbidden act. But if, instead, you commanded him to pick up the block, no amount of spanking might cause him to obey.

Wait Until Next Time. Why face such an impasse? Why command him at all to pick up the block? Why not request him to pick it up? If he chooses not to pick it up in spite of your most persuasive manner, don't shift to a command and tell him he must. Pick it up yourself or let it go, and hope that he will be ready to obey next time, and he will, because you have not made his acceding painful. You have left the way open for his better cooperation next time.

I have pointed out also that an older child, say over six, might easily learn to obey a positive command, as he has had enough experience to know that it would be to his advantage to obey, since in doing so he might escape severe punishment or pain. His having to sit in a chair for thirty minutes on refusing to tidy up the corner where he was playing, when told to do so, might easily render him more ready to obey another positive command later.

Yes, the older child, especially if he be under twelve or thirteen, may be required effectively to obey a positive command, or conform to some regular requirements, if decisive and adequate punishment faces him and there is no arguing or jawing. Indeed, decisive penalties consistently employed may not only help educate him in obedience but also may prevent stubbornness in him.

The same self-control and decisiveness of his parents in such situations are likely to succeed when they announce denials. They don't waver and wobble. As you know, one source of stubbornness in the child at any age is failure of the parents to make their word good.

The Older Child. Even though this older child may properly be given a few necessary positive commands, as well as a few negative ones, all commands can and should grow fewer as he grows older. Barring some regular jobs or requirements which may be carried out over an appreciable period of time, positive commands to a child eight, ten or older should be very rare. Gradually he can be supplanted with requests.

This older child who discovers that when his parents make a request of him they never will shift to a command, no matter whether he accedes or not, will rarely fail to accede, and his readiness to cooperate will grow and grow. Treated so, an older child will rarely need to hear a negative command. Gradually he will feel he is managing himself as a worthy person in his family.

THE WEDDING LINE

Old customs change, but Mrs. Post, who counsels hostess, guest and host, is the first to give advice. On newer forms of conduct nice. Holds sacred still the wedding line.

From "two to four" or "seven to nine."

How oft I've crept on burning feet To get the bride and groom to greet! How oft I've staided ladies fair, And led them to a nearby chair! How oft I've seen men step aside, "Too tired," they said, "to kiss the bride!"

As Mrs. Post has often told, The wedding line's a custom old. Though time has toppled thrones of kings And genius bettered countless things.

While marriage lasts the line will stay A "must" for every wedding day. (Copyright, 1951, Edgar A. Guest)

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Is there a parking problem? Yes there is. But just what is the problem? In other words what do you motorists want in the line of parking? One type would be, on-the-street parking... or do you want parking lot parking. Is it under-cover parking... long time parking or short-time parking. To say that we just have plain parking... is not enough.

Today we have parking meters... a goodly number... Are these doing the right job? Not all of the parking meter spaces are used each day... Are the ones being used... being used by all-day parkers?

There are several parking lots in the business area... some of these are filled to capacity... others are not. Why? Two or three blocks of walking in New Castle will take you from almost any downtown parking lot to the stores. Is this too far to walk?

What town can boast of short walking distances? Maybe we are beginning to look at this parking problem in a different light. But what we want you people to do... is look at the parking problem, and then think about the problem... and then give us some ideas. Don't sit back and say... we have a parking problem, and something must be done about it. You don't say to your doctor, I have a pain somewhere... do something. You at least tell him where the pain is located... head, stomach or legs.

George Winter Jr. is chairman of the GNCA parking committee... and the committee held its first meeting Thursday at noon during which time they studied the problems of other communities and started a concentrated study of local conditions. So your help will be of great value. Take time right now to make your say.

Where do you think our parking pains are located? This GNCA committee will be considered as the diagnostic doctor.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Canada's Inflationary Controls

OTTAWA, July 28.—A hurry call came from Washington not long ago asking the Canadian government to send down some experts to help explain this country's system of inflationary controls. The experts, chosen from among the able civil servants who form the backbone of administration here, duly went to Washington.

They held forth to Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, Price Controller Michael DiSalle and their staffs on the Canadian conviction that indirect rather than direct controls must be relied on over the long pull of western rearmament to hold down inflation. But if anyone in Washington took in this lesson in the economics of a period of not-peace-not-war with arms expenditures in the billions, there are no visible signs of it from here.

Not merely big defense appropriations but a boom in industrial development at a rate that, in terms of population and resources, may exceed anything ever undertaken anywhere before has pushed against the economic ceiling.

Think Goal Being Achieved. Even though the cost-of-living index is only two or three points under that of the United States, those directing the control program here feel that it is achieving its goal as well as can be expected in view of the fact that the urgency of all-out war is lacking.

In a recent speech Kenneth W. Taylor, deputy minister of finance, put the case against direct controls as follows:

"It seems to me that the oversimplified popular argument for immediate over-all price controls fails on three counts: first, that alone and by themselves they will be ineffective. They do not go to the root of the matter. Second, they require a unanimity of support, a singleness of purpose and an acute sense of urgency that do not at present exist. And, finally, that unless we can feel sure that they can be abandoned within a relatively short time they will begin to erode the foundations of the very freedom we are resolved to defend."

But the indirect controls applied here are much tighter than those which the Congress in Washington has just weakened along with the emasculating of direct controls. For example, the down payments required for a new or used auto is 50 per cent, with only 12 months to pay. Similarly, tight credit restrictions apply on most other installment buying.

The government has actively budgeted for large surpluses and, as a result, the national debt has been reduced about 15 per cent from 1946 to 1950. This has meant sharply increased taxes, since defense spending has been nearly quadrupled. While personal and corporation income taxes have gone up markedly at least 45 per cent, the increased tax burden has been met out of sales and excise taxes. This last is a deliberate

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Fred Babcock says his favorite story about the late Sinclair Lewis concerns the day he went back to Yale for a class reunion. The banquet speakers all hailed him as America's greatest writer, and dwelled at length on how all of them had recognized his genius in undergraduate days and helped him in every way they could.

Then Lewis rose to speak, and this is what he said: "When I came to Yale I was a freckle-faced, red haired, gangling, gawky greenhorn from a small town in Minnesota, and all of you either ignored me or high tailed me. Now that I've been lucky enough to achieve a little notoriety, you've changed your tune and are trying to horn in on the act."

"You were not my friends then, and you're not my friends now. As far as I'm concerned, you can all go to the devil."

With that, Red Lewis walked out, tributed by King Features Syndicate. (Copyright, 1951, by Bennett Cerf, Dis-

"Sunday Golf"

By PAUL GALLICO

Owing to changes in my work and way of living, I haven't participated in years, but I would like to record that one of the most delightful manifestations of middle class life in America is Sunday golf and all that it offers, from the arrival at the club, the anticipation and preparatory lusing, to the game itself on a hot summer's morning with the favorite foursome and ending with the drinking, kidding, alibing, and buffet lunch on the clubhouse porch. I miss it.

The phenomenon is purely Anglo-Saxon. The Englishman knows how to enjoy it; the American has organized it into a superlative luxury, and no other country in the world has or could have the faintest idea what it is all about, or why we have such a wonderful time at it.

Sunday in Europe, for instance, is a day which the pater familias spends solemnly in the bosom of his family. He puts on his best clothes and takes them for a walk on the avenue, or in the park. Friends may be visited, or an open air concert attended in a cafe. He has a fine time and a nice rest, I am sure, but he doesn't manage to get back to being a little boy once a week as we do at the golf club.

Takes Sports Seriously

The European also, when he indulges, takes his sports very seriously. Ours is probably the only mass participation contest in the world where the only thing the participant really can't do is play the game. The average American Sunday golfer is an offense to the eye and ought to play behind a screen except that he is so happy and self-deluded in his ignorance of what constitutes an athletic body that it is rather sweet and enjoyable to see him trying to swing around his potbelly and get at a ball he can barely see beyond the edge of his ventral curvature.

There are definitely two entirely different games played in the U.S.A., golf and Sunday golf, and beyond the fact that they are indulged in on the same kind of course and with identical implements, they have nothing to do with one another. The former is a difficult serious game of skill in which the contestant recognizes three equally difficult opponents who must be conquered, namely the terrain, himself and the fellow he is trying to beat. The latter, Sunday Golf, is a mad mixture of ignorance, hapless form, undying hope, superstition, the gambling spirit, faith and the bright adolescent dream of success beyond imagining.

Marvelous Handicaps System

By a most marvelous system of handicaps, bets, psychological diversions and the rasping stimulation of carefully planned personal irritation, a fellow who is an absolute duffer at swinging a club or hitting a ball up to the green with a long iron can compete practically even terms with his betters, and his ends are his means. When he sees his name up on the bulletin board at the clubhouse green as having achieved a net 69 in the tournament it looks to him just as good as it does to Ben Hogan, or Sam Snead or Jim Ferrier, notwithstanding the fact that his handicap is 35, and he has staggered around the course in a horrible 104.

I suppose it is wicked on Sunday morning and a man ought to be in church praying to be forgiven the sins he has perpetrated Monday through Saturday, and yet rarely is the American more innocent or purer in heart than at his golf club on Sunday morning. If one might be permitted to paraphrase the poem by Elizabeth Akers Allen he seems to be the living manifestation of:

"Backward, turn backward, O Time, on your way!
Make me a child again, just for today!"

Makes Him Relaxed And Happy

Sunday golf means all the things a guy likes and that makes him relaxed and happy, the reception and recognition by the doorman at the club which makes him feel that he belongs, the gang in the locker room and the kidding and ribbing that emphasizes his position and acceptance by his fellow man, the few words from the pro or the caddy master about his game when he stops in the golf shop which makes him feel like a real athlete about to take part in an important competition, the exciting half serious haggling over bets and handicaps which appeals to every man's instincts of the market place.

There is the wonderful smell of summertime grass in the air, and there is nothing that looks quite as clean and enticing as a golf course stretching away, the bunkers shining through the trees, as one stands on the first tee with three of the swiftest guys in the world, preparing to drive off.

Everything is pleasant, the taking of the preliminary swings to loosen up, the act of breaking a brand new ball out of its paper covering and feeling its cool, dimpled smoothness in the palm of the hand, the clink of the iron clubs as the caddy shifts the bag, the wonderful hard, satisfying "SNICK" of the well-hit drive, the way the flags on the greens whip and stand out if there is a little breeze.

One remembers the "thunk" of the putt dropping into the can, the singing in the showers, the taste of the first drink and the first bite thereafter, the smell and feel of the crisp, clean laundered towels in the locker room. ... Dear old Sunday Golf. Nobody does it better or as well as we.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

One of the peculiar traits of the human mind is that it is so very much interested in the far-away, and so comparatively neglectful of the near-by.

Hundreds of missionaries have been sent to the most remote places of the earth, to bring religion to the "heathen." Yet here at home there is still so much religious indifference, intolerance, disunity.

Billions have been sent to feed starving masses in India, in China, in Europe—all over the globe. Yet there is still so much poverty, want, misery right in the back yards of our own country.

More billions are sent to Europe for economic rehabilitation, yet our own domestic economy needs plenty of rehabilitating.

Now comes the latest excursion into the far-away. Astronomers in the Netherlands have triumphantly announced that they have picked up radio signals from the Milky Way, millions of miles away. This is to be the practical beginning of a new science they call "radio astronomy."

Soon you, too, may be able to get these signals and perhaps whole programs, provided you have a receiver eight feet in diameter and can tune in on the right wave length, which is supposed to be 21.1 centimeters.

My respects to Professor Jahn H. Oort of Leyden University, who has made a great new discovery. But with my respects goes the humble question "So what?"

Frankly I am not terribly impressed by all these colossal scientific discoveries which go beyond the legitimate scope of the human mind and far beyond its legitimate capacities.

It seems that before scientists worry about the Milky Way radio, they should try to improve some of our honorable radio programs at home. Or the still more horrible television programs.

It seems that we should not have such great pity and compassion for the poor and the sick and the ignorant all over the world but forget that our own country, our own state, our own county, our own community are also a part of this world.

There is an old saying which has become very popular of late: "Far places are greenest."

However, if I remember correctly, wasn't the latter one supposed to apply only to COWS? (Copyright, 1951, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

River Raft Trip Being Delayed

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., July 28—(INS)—The sociological experiment in human relations conducted by four unmarried young people on the river raft "Lethargia" is being delayed today in Moundsville and probably won't be resumed until next Tuesday.

Mary Ellen McCrady, the 24-year-old University of Michigan graduate student and organizer of the experiment, admitted that righting their overturned craft has become more of a job than she and her companions figured on.

Raft To Be Repaired

Two motorboats are to tow the "Lethargia" about a quarter of a mile to an open area for repairs today. The 20-by-20-foot craft overturned late Thursday while being pushed by a tug in the Ohio river near Moundsville.

A Moundsville garageman will use his tow truck to right the craft and then Miss McCrady, Geraldine Garcia, 23, of Boston, Don Brown, 24, of Detroit and Milton Borden, 30, of New Bedford, Mass., will have to rebuild the 6-by-8-foot cabin which Brown said "is a mess".

The group is trying to find out what happens when four individuals are thrown together and have to see the same persons daily.

They began the experiment last July 19 in New Kensington, Pa., and hope to reach New Orleans by October 1, despite the delay.

To cut ironing time, sew a line of machine stitching close to the crease of each pleat before putting washable pleated garments into the soapsuds. Another smart trick is to baste pleats at the hemline before washing; this marks and holds them for easier ironing.

Educator Attacks Classroom Design

PHILADELPHIA — (INS) — More than 95 per cent of the nation's classrooms hinder rather than help student development, according to a consulting educationist who recently addressed a meeting of Pennsylvania school leaders.

Dr. Darell Boyd Harmon warned that many grade school pupils are "paying for their education with a steadily increasing number of visual, nutritional, postural and other defects."

He thinks most of these defects could be eliminated if the children were moved to properly designed classrooms.

Environmental factors—such as lighting, heating, acoustics, decoration and seating—are important to a student's mental and physical progress, Dr. Harmon said.

"Improper heating for example, can distort the whole child," he elaborated. "It can affect his bones, his muscles, his body structure and his learning as he makes adjustments to feel comfortable."

He cited two reasons for the backwardness of school design: 1) educational findings are not properly integrated, and 2) educational sources are limited.

Dr. Harmon hopes to see more "co-ordinated classrooms" throughout the country as his recommendations are adopted.

To Mark Anniversary

HOLY TRINITY UKRAINIAN ORTHODOX CHURCH

Twenty-fifth anniversary of the Holy Trinity Ukrainian Orthodox church, located at Rose and Stanton avenues, will be marked Sunday with an auspicious program starting at 10:30 a. m. in the church, to be followed by a banquet at the Cathedral dining room at 1:30 p. m. and a picnic at Idlewood Park at 4 p. m.

Holy Liturgy (high mass) will be conducted at 10:30 a. m. by Rev. L. Kushnir of Butler, with local and neighboring priests assisting with Sharon and Butler choirs directed by O. Lupan and M. Pysh.

The banquet at the Cathedral and the concert by local and neighboring choirs and dancers will take place at 1:30 p. m. Incidental solos will be given by Michael Sop, Katherine Barker, Anna Putro, Carole Chernyavsky and Gene Adamczyk with Miss Olga Musychuk of Cleveland as guest soloist.

Frank Taylor of this city is accompanist. Rev. Michael Mostensky of Youngstown will serve as toastmaster.

Concluding feature of the day will be a picnic at Idlewood Park when a varied program will be presented.

Rev. Stephen Musychuk has been serving the church as its pastor since 1940 until the present time, making 11 years of service. He will be general chairman of the day's activities.

The Ukrainians migrated to this section between 1905 and 1914 and after attending various churches in the city, the group assembled in the home of Andrew Lisko, 4126 Jackson avenue, where the present Ukrainian church was organized. At the first meeting on January 27, 1926, officers were elected. The following Sunday, the first Holy Liturgy was conducted at the Lisko home.

On February 21, 1926, a resolution was adopted to purchase a lot at the corner of Rose and Stanton avenues, for $1,300. A building was started a few months later with the valuation today in excess of $50,000. The dedication of the cornerstone of the new church and the very first high mass in it was conducted October 3, 1926 by a local priest and neighbors.

House Votes To End State Of War With Germany

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(INS)—The House voted 376 to 0, on Friday to end the state of war with Germany.

It adopted and sent to the Senate a resolution ending the technical state of war which has existed since Dec. 11, 1941. Hostilities ceased in May, 1945.

Although there were no votes against the measure, Rep. Javits (R-L, N. Y.), voted present.

The resolution does not terminate the state of war with Japan, declared on Dec. 8, 1941. That will be done when a peace treaty is signed in September.

Termination of the legal state of war does not affect the occupation of Germany by the Allied Forces. The main purpose of the resolution is to end the enemy status of Western Germany and give German citizens the same status now accorded to nationals of other friendly governments.

Commercial relations between Germany and the U. S. have been permitted since Dec. 31, 1946, when President Truman by proclamation officially declared hostilities ended.

Termination of the state of war will permit Germans to sue in U. S. courts and it will remove other disabilities that now hamper commercial relations.

Rep. Richards (D-S. C.), committee chairman who is sponsoring the resolution, told the House that it applied to all Germany, including the Soviet-controlled eastern zone.

GRANGE NEWS

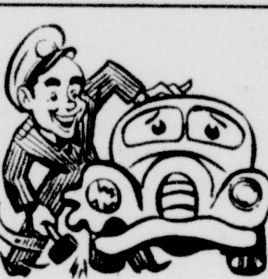

Wilmington Grange

Wilmington grangers held two interesting meetings this week. The first was the Travelling Floral program which was staged at East New Castle grange hall. The second was the regular meeting with a guest speaker and display of Indian relics, held in New Wilmington hall Thursday evening.

Sixty-one members from Wilmington attended the first meeting, which featured a program of an hour's duration. The event was reported to be one of the finest ever staged, according to past State Master Sharp Fullerton. Due to its success, the participants were requested to repeat the performance at the next meeting of the Wilmington grange, August 9. This will be a picnic supper.

At the Thursday meeting, W. J. Meyer-Oakes, archeologist from Carnegie Museum, gave an informative talk on early history of this area. Following the brief talk, he conducted an open discussion period and explained the use and probable origin of relics displayed by the grangers. All items shown had been found in the Lawrence-Mercer county vicinity and included arrow heads, stone skinning knives, and spear heads. Interest in Indian history has been stimulated in the past due to the work and talks by C. W. Beerbower, local historian and collector.

Calls For Resignation Of Top Democratic Leaders In State

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—(INS)—Former State Sen. H. Jerome Jaspas of Philadelphia has called for the resignation of three top Pennsylvania Democratic leaders.

Jaspas said the resignations were in order because the victory of Judge Michael A. Musmanno in the Supreme Court primary battle showed "loss of confidence" in the state leadership.

Those called on to resign are Pittsburgh Mayor David L. Lawrence and Mrs. Emma Guffey Miller, Pennsylvania members of the Democratic National Committee, and Maurice Spain, Jr., state chairman.

Jaspas proposed that Philadelphia City Treasurer Richardson Dilworth and Mrs. Elmer J. Holland, wife of the Allegheny State Senator, replace Lawrence and Mrs. Miller on the National Committee and that State Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent, of Westmoreland succeed Spain as chairman.

Punished Because Of Support Of MacArthur Says Guard Officer

CHICAGO, July 28.—(INS)—(INS)—Brig. Gen. Julius Klein, Illinois National Guard officer who was stripped of his command, complained bitterly today that he was being punished for his support of Gen. MacArthur.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson ordered the deactivation of his 109th anti-aircraft artillery brigade—effective at midnight Tuesday.

Maj. Gen. Leo M. Boyle said the action followed an army statement that it had "no foreseeable need" for the 170 troops remaining in the outfit. The rest of the brigade was called into active service last May.

Klein, a leading Republican and head of a public relations firm, has been an outspoken supporter of Gen. MacArthur and was involved in a dispute over the general's welcome in Chicago.

Klein declared politics dictated what he termed his "firing" and said the deactivation of the 109th wastes "nearly $1,000,000" spent by the government in training and education.

However, Maj. Gen. Boyle maintained that the cost continuing the outfit—with no foreseeable need—"would be approximately $122,000 per year."

State Highway Workers Wage Hike Considered

HARRISBURG, July 28.—(INS)—A 10 per cent wage increase for salaried and per diem workers is being considered today by the State Highways Department.

The wage hike may be announced Monday at the State Capitol following a staff conference in Secretary Ray F. Smock's office.

The department is free to raise wages because it can draw on the motor license fund while other executive departments must depend upon allocations made by the General Assembly for operating expenses over a two-year period.

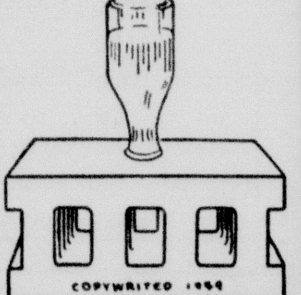

Gov. John S. Fine has asked the legislature to approve a bill to provide funds for underwriting $8,000,000 pay boost for state workers.

Two Kentucky Officials Ousted; Result Of Probe

COVINGTON, Ky., July 28.—(INS)—Two Kentucky officials have lost their jobs because of testimony Monday before the Senate crime investigating committee in Washington.

Theo "Tate" Hageman, the State Liquor Department's chief field agent, was suspended indefinitely yesterday. He is entitled to a hearing.

And Kenton county election board chairman Charles K. O'Connell said Leonard "Duke" Connor will be replaced when his term on the board expires Tuesday.

Covington Commissioner John J. Moloney testified that Hageman, former Covington city manager, suggested he accept part of the "rake-offs" from gamblers under the guise of a "profit-sharing plan." Hageman denied the charges.

Connor admitted he operated slot machines and a handbook in his turf club in the race-track town of Latonia.

Floods Are Cause Of High Increases In Compensation Claims

KANSAS CITY, July 28.—(INS)—Officials had a good picture today of the economic disruption caused in Greater Kansas City by the disastrous floods.

The first reports of unemployment compensation offices since the disaster reveal that some 11,000 more claims than normal have been filed—about ten times the average—and the increase is directly attributed to the flood.

In the employment security office in Kansas City, Kas., a total of 10,492 claims were filed in the week ended July 21. A week earlier the figure was 922. In the Kansas City, Mo., unemployment compensation office there were 2,231 claims last week, compared to 682 the week before.

Officials said this was an indication of how badly the flood disrupted industrial operations.

In Topeka, Kas., 2,107 claims were filed last week as compared to 227 a week earlier. Other cities and towns showed smaller, but still sizable, increases.

It was pointed out that many persons have been unable to file claims, making the unemployment picture incomplete. However, some figures already are getting back into operation.

Maximum unemployment payments in Kansas are $28 a week and in Missouri, $25 a week.

The Bessemer playground is under the direction of William Peltio. The playground will close on August 10, it is announced.

Programs For Ward Churches

Summer Schedule In Churches To Continue

Summer schedule of Ward churches will be continued again this Sunday as two of the pastors continue their vacation period and a third is heard in his pulpit Sunday morning.

Only Protestant pastor to be heard Sunday morning will be Dr. Louis Worley, pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church. Rev. Ormel Shindeldecker of the Methodist church and Rev. Howard L. Krause of the Madison Avenue Christian will be away Sunday for their final time and will resume their duties on August 5.

The Methodists and the Presbyterians are cooperating in the Union Sunday evening programs sponsored by the New Castle Ministerial Association and will attend as far as possible the service at Epworth Methodist church Sunday evening, when Rev. Robert Mayo will speak.

The ward church program for Sunday follows:

Mahoningtown Presbyterian, Dr. Louis Worley, pastor; Bible school, 9:50 a.m.; William C. Bollinger, supt.; worship, 11. Dr. Worley speaking.

Mahoning Methodist, Rev. Ormel Shindeldecker, pastor; Bible school, 9:45 a.m.; Lawrence Godwin, supt.; no worship service in church, congregation joins with Presbyterian congregation.

Madison Avenue Christian, Rev. Howard L. Krause, minister; Bible school, 9:45 a.m.; Miss Grace Kelly, supt.; preaching service, 11, in charge of elders, Mrs. J. B. Comstock, organist.

Extend Reservation Period For Reunion

Mrs. Helen Adams, who has been in charge of the reservations for the Mahoning school reunion, announced today that the reservation period was extended until noon Monday in order that a larger group of local residents would get their reservations in to Mrs. Adams.

An excellent response has been noted from out of towners and former members of the school who are planning to attend. Local residents are urged to get in touch with Mrs. Adams in order that a large number of present ward citizens and others living in the city proper can attend.

Plans were made to close reservations on Friday, but the extra grace period has been granted. The reunion will open at Mahoning school and then adjourn to the Methodist church for supper. A well arranged program has been planned for the reunion event.

Davis Bible Class Has Picnic Friday

East Palestine Park was the scene of the annual picnic of the Davis Bible class of the Mahoning Methodist church on Friday afternoon. Forty-five members assembled at the park for the outdoor gathering.

The group sang the Doxology as they sat down to the well laden table. Following the dinner event, the group joined in the various

Cops Put Check On Bum Checker

LANCASTER, Pa. — (INS) — Lightning rod salesman George A. Betz knows now that it isn't exactly smart to pass out bum checks in payment of traffic violation fines.

Betz wrote out a check—and right at police headquarters, at that — for a parking ticket. It bounced.

A few days later, he signed a $3 check to pay for three more parking tickets. Again the check proved rubbery.

Impatient police notified Betz to make the checks good — or else. So, in typical never-say-die salesman fashion, Betz calmly obliged the police order with a check for $4.

You guessed it — it bounced, too.

And police did also—right after Betz, whom they arrested on a charge of issuing worthless checks.

Migrating Town Remains On Map

SHEVLIN, Ore. — (INS) — The migrating logging town of Shevlin remains on the Oregon map despite the fact that the owners, Shevlin-Hixon Company, ended logging operations last December.

The post office and school of the northern Klamath county town remain open and it is believed many of the 50 families remaining in the probable community will stay until the end of the school year.

Many men are leaving their families at Shevlin until they find living quarters in the other mill towns where they now work.

Shevlin served as headquarters for some 250 workers and the logging trains that carried timber to the company mill at Bend.

The town had migrated through three mid-Oregon counties, Deschutes, Lake and Klamath, before the firm sold its Oregon holdings to the Brooks-Scanlon Company.

What It Takes To Lose Pound

LONDON—(INS)—Sir Adolphe Abrahams, a British expert on fitness exercises, wrote in the current issue of the medical journal "Lancet" that to lose one pound of fat it is necessary to:

1. Walk 66½ miles at the ordinary walking pace;
2. Run 43 miles at marathon pace;
3. Sprint 7½ miles; or
4. Foxtrot non-stop for 16 hours.

Sir Adolphe pointed out, however, that "loss of weight must be distinguished from genuine loss of fat."

Sen. Douglas Will Oppose Appointees

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Sen. Douglas (D) Ill., said today that he will go before the Senate Judiciary committee to oppose confirmation of President Truman's appointees for two Illinois judgeships.

In announcing that he will carry to the committee his fight against the presidential nominees, Douglas said he hoped his opposition will not cause a deep rift between himself and Mr. Truman.

Douglas said he will continue to support the president "on measures on which I think he is right."

Under long-established Senate precedent, the Douglas position virtually bars chances of the Senate approving the nominees, Joseph J. Drucker and Cornelius J. Harrington.

Douglas declared that a poll of the Chicago Bar Association supported his candidates for the judgeships, William H. King, Jr., and Benjamin P. Eosien.

The senator indicated he will invoke the phrase "personally obnoxious to me" in the fight against Mr. Truman's appointees. Over the years this phrase has come to mean virtual defeat for nominees against whom it is used.

Prof. Donald L. Barbe, head of the speech and dramatic arts department of Westminster College, will be the speaker at Wednesday noon's luncheon meeting of New Castle Kiwanis club. Prof. Barbe is director of the Little Theater at New Wilmington, and a member of New Wilmington Kiwanis club.

Will Seek To Break Legislative Jam At Record Session

HARRISBURG, July 28.—(INS)—The last major campaign of the 1951 session will be opened Monday by administration forces to blast the House approved income tax out of the Senate and break the legislative log-jam which has forced the general assembly into the longest session since Revolutionary War days.

The legislature will end a 10-day recess Monday.

Gov. John S. Fine, striving desperately to rescue the controversial one-half of one per cent levy may ask U. S. Sen. Edward Martin if he will help crack the 11-member bloc of Republicans who wear Maverick brands as far as the administration is concerned.

Martin, opposed to increasing taxes needlessly, is understood to be sympathetic to Fine's repeated appeals to the assembly for new revenue beyond that already gained.

U. S. Sen. James H. Duff is pursuing a "hands-off" policy on the tax matter, according to a spokesman at Washington.

Bell Company To Build In Ellwood

Plans for the erection of a new Central Office building in Ellwood City are in the making. It was announced today by local manager Robert Anstadt, that it will probably be some time before construction is actually started.

The building will be erected at 209 Fifth avenue, where the company recently purchased a lot for that purpose.

A sign has been erected at the site, stating that a new building will be erected there. A house, which formerly occupied the location has been torn down to prepare the site for the new building.

There are no "national" holidays in the United States. Each state has jurisdiction over holidays to be observed.

SWEET CORN AT ITS BEST
Sweet corn is at its best when it is freshly pulled. The sugars in sweet corn quickly change to starch after the corn is harvested and it loses some of its sweetness. You can destroy much of the sweetness if you keep corn in a hot kitchen all day. Good fresh sweet corn keeps its freshness longer when kept in a cool place. Some of the best retail grocers put their corn in a refrigerator until they put it on display and sale. You might follow their example.

BIGGEST PIG CROP ON RECORD FORECAST

The second largest pig crop on record is in prospect for this year. The spring and fall pig crops are expected to total nearly 106 million head. This is five per cent larger than last year, and is expected only by the record high pig crop of 1943.

The 64 million pigs saved in the spring season of 1951 were seven per cent over last year's crop. Compared with 1950, the spring crop was 11 per cent larger in Pennsylvania.

Number of pigs saved per litter this spring is 6.46—two per cent larger than last year, and equal to the previous record high. In Pennsylvania the number saved per litter increased three per cent to 6.7 pigs.

If pigs saved per litter equal the 10-year average, the estimate number of sows to farrow this fall will produce a fall crop of about 42 million head—three per cent above 1950.

Even though the peak spring marketing is past, numbers of hogs six-months-old and over were eight per cent above last year on June 1. Part of this increase is in breeding stock. The rest will likely be marketed during the summer months.

FREEZE JUICES AND PUREES

You may freeze fruit juices and purees now and make into jelly or jam later. You can freeze currant, grape, plum and berry juices for jelly. Use a mixture of slightly underripe and ripe fruit. Wash, stem and corer fruit. Warm currants and berries to start flow of juice, but do not boil. For plums, just cover with water and simmer until soft. Strain through jelly bag and cool juice.

To prepare grapes, crush the fruit, heat to boiling, then cool and strain through jelly bag. Allow to stand overnight in a cool place. In the morning pour off the clear juice.

To freeze any fruit juice, pour into containers; leave one-half inch headspace for pints and one inch for quarts. If you use glass fruit jars leave three-fourths inch for pints and one and one-half inches for quarts.

Apricots, any kind of berries, cherries, grapes, peaches, pears and plums may be frozen as puree. Select well-ripened fruit but it need not be perfect. Wash well, crush and press through a sieve. Apricots and peaches may be dipped in boiling water, then in cold water and the skin slipped off. You may need to heat fruit with just enough water to prevent scorching before pureeing. Cherries and grapes also sieve better if first brought to a boil; plums will need about two minutes of cooking.

After straining, add one cup of sugar to each quart of puree for most fruits. One-fourth teaspoon ascorbic powder dissolves in one-fourth cup water for each quart of apricot puree improves it. For peaches and pears use one-eighth teaspoon per quart. Leave headspace same as for fruit juices.

Labor Government Of Britain Will Control Dividends

LONDON, July 28.—(INS)—British security broke sharply today in one of the worst declines in years on the London Stock Exchange.

A heavy flood of selling was touched off by the decision of the Labor government to control dividends for the next three years. Under interpretation of the ruling, many companies which increased payments last year will be forced to cut future dividend payments.

For a time early in the session the market was described as "completely disorganized" as traders rushed to unload their holdings of British securities and switch them into stocks of foreign companies.

While values of British industrial and commodity issues showed losses of one to three dollars a share, prices of American dollar shares, selected Rhodesian copper and South African gold mining issues advanced for average gains of two dollars a share.

Traders also switched their funds into German and Japanese bonds which are outside the dividend limitation area. Gains ranging to seven dollars were recorded in these groups.

Among the British securities, rubbers were particularly weak. Virtually all rubber companies have increased their common dividends very sharply over the last year and under the new ruling will now be forced to cut them heavily.

Lutheran Reception At Zelienople Home

Approximately 900 people from Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio attended the annual Reception Day of the Lutheran Old People's Home, Zelienople, Thursday afternoon. The day was designated as "Anna Clara Richter Day" in honor of Mrs. Richter, Matron of the Home since 1928, who is retiring.

The services were held outdoors in front of the Recreation or "Boecelo Hall." Attorney Bertram H. Kenyon, Pittsburg, presided during the program. High tribute was paid Mrs. Richter in recognition for her long, efficient and sacrificial services as Matron of the Home by Dr. G. Lawrence Himmelman, president of the Pittsburgh Synod; Dr. A. W. Steinfurth, Wilkesburg; secretary of the Board of Managers; Rev. Philip W. Seiberling, chaplain of the Home congregation and superintendent of the Children's Home, who spoke in behalf of the Community, and Mrs. "Ma" Ford, a member of the Home family.

WHERE THE NEED IS GREAT THE RESPONSE IS GREAT

Nearly two weeks ago, the secretary of the Lawrence County Chapter, P. M. T. A., was grievously injured in an automobile accident.

Blood transfusions were needed, a rare type of blood, Type AB Negative. The supply of donors was soon exhausted and on Thursday, this chapter made a plea for volunteers to have their blood typed in the hope that AB Negative donors might be secured.

The response was truly magnificent. The American Red Cross put every facility it had into action and by Friday night a supply of donors sufficient for some time had been secured.

Our gratitude goes out to all those who so generously responded and to the Lawrence County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Where the need is great the response is great. This response was in the finest tradition of New Castle and its citizens.

Indians Top Lockport Twice 9-8, 9-8, Take Third Place

Green, Kowalski, Toles Batting Stars, Geer Wins Two In Relief; Lockport Tonight, Oil City Sunday

Bill Green, Walt Kowalski, and Ted Toles, went on a batting rampage last night at Flaherty Field, sending the tantalizing Indians into third place a game and a half behind in the torrid Mid-Atlantic league race, with two wins over Lockport 9-8 and 9-8.

As the Indians meet Lockport tonight in the final game of the seven-game current series, the Tribe leads in victories four to two. Game time tonight is 7:30 o'clock. John McCulloch will face Pat McCullough on the hill.

Oil City and Rudy York Here Sunday

Sunday the Oil City Athletics with Rudy York at the helm move in for three games. York has 31 homers to date to lead the league. Oil City split a twin-bill at Erie last night, winning 5-4 and then losing 6-1 in a six-inning game. Niagara Falls defeated Butler 3-1 and took the league lead, by a half-game.

Rain almost washed out the second game here last night, but the 400 fans who had witnessed a thrilling extra-inning first game, stuck it out. They saw another thriller in the night-cap, as Steve Magula batted in Lavigne with the winning run in the last of the ninth.

Bill Green Steals Thunder

It was "Ted Toles Night" but Bill Green stole the thunder in the first game, getting a single, triple and two homers, his second homer winning the game, as he led off in the last of the ninth, and belted the first Glenn Gardner pitch, over the right-field wall, for his seventh homer of the year. Toles acknowledging the plaudits of the fans, banged a homer in the fifth inning, and followed with a double in the seventh that helped tie the score.

Klatter Suffers Injury

New Castle's jubilation over the winning of a twin-bill from the heavy-hitting Lockport team was dimmed somewhat by what may prove a costly ankle injury to mound star Paul Klatter, who suffered a badly swollen ankle in the sixth inning of the night-cap, when he was hit by a terrific inoff off the bat of catcher Menapace of Lockport and had to leave the game after pitching to three more batters. Herb Churchill took over, but was removed in the eighth inning for a pinch-hitter, Geer finishing his second relief job of the evening and winning both.

Tough Evening On Pitchers

Last evening was very rough on pitchers—there were 52 hits made, 26 by both clubs in the twin-bill, with 34 runs crossing the plate. Lockport used 140 veterans, Glenn Gardner and Frank Wagner, while Manager Al Milnar had to call on four hurlers. Geer appearing twice Lockport goes into an important series with Erie after leaving here, and the Tribe takes on Oil City, starting Sunday at Flaherty Field. The two teams have played 31 innings of baseball in two straight days, 13 on Thursday and 18 on Friday. The Indians pulled three "out of the fire" in two days, 15-14, 9-8 and 9-8.

Toles Gets Beautiful Watch

Young Ted Toles, Negro star outfielder was a happy boy last night being the recipient of a beautiful wrist watch, from his many friends and fans at the game. The presentation took place after the first game, with Arthur Brown, chairman of "Ted Toles Night," introducing Eddie Allen, secretary of the Shenango Y. who presented the watch. Mrs. Donald Eckles added congratulations from the fans. The Optimist Club also had a part in the ceremony.

Toles was exuberant for his hustle on the ball club, and for his splendid show of sportsmanship, together with his gentlemanly actions both on and off the field. Ted simply said, "Thanks everybody," as he choked up with emotion.

Also taking part in the Toles presentation was Tom Farrow and William Wooten, both members of the committee who staged the event, aided by Don Eckles and Merle Hart.

FAMOUS LOCAL dance and song team of years ago, Harry Ross, Ernie Palus, Mike Ross and Frank Colao, was recalled by Paul Lombardi several nights ago. Ross is doing nicely following a critical operation. Palus is now a resident of Westport, O. They occupied a feature spot on local programs. Another pair which went "big" with the football public were Bill Chill and Frankie De Lillo. Bill and Frankie delivered catchy vocal numbers between halves at Ne-Ca-Hi grid clashes. Bill resides in Youngstown and Frankie in Baltimore. In their day the Charleston was the rage and many girls participated in a contest at a local theater. Although they're aging, two who can yet sling their feet to music are Wayne Sines and Wayne Cannon. Harkening back decades, one recalls the Leff & Silverman, New Year's dinner to Newsboys, following which a vaudeville show was conducted in the now gone Carnegie auditorium. Several of the young folk later made good in vaudeville. In those days the late Bill Jones, nicknamed the ivories on a piano to the enjoyment of audiences. Minstrel shows were staged locally which attracted pleased crowds. Bill Nyck of near Ellwood City will be remembered for hitting long balls for the Castle Cords which boasted of Frank Mills, Conway, Kramer, Milan, La Longe, Markie, Reebie, Davies, Rittelman, et al. Among the poor shooters, Merriman, Dixon, Poplar, O'Loughlin et al. were among tops. Earl McCormick was getting started as a top bowler. The city was yet noted for its pugilists, some of whom had seen better days fiscally. The Lawrence County league was born in the 20's and while it is not operating this year because of the war emergency, it has operated every season excepting two, and possibly three years. Billy Glenn had a peanut wagon at Apple Alley which was the hang-out of sportsmen. Cascade Park was a favored spot and drew good crowds. Josie, a comely tray girl, at a local night club, says she hopes to see the grapplers in person August 24. She's a devotee of sports. Some local "gals", having no pools here in which to swim, are doing it over-hand and breast-stroke at Sandy Lake.

E. GENE SCHWEINSBERG and Joe O'Leary are hustling the American Legion games here August 1. There will be scouts from many major loop teams watching youthful diamonders. Billy Pozza is an Ellwood City "coop". The WPIAL will permit trials to start on August 18, two weeks prior to September 1. BPOE No. 69, no doubt, will again have a Quarterback club, at which gridders of Ne-Ca-Hi will be present as guests this fall, and winter. A. Goff Harbert, Moose lodge secretary, is an ex-brass pounder, or telegrapher. Although he's fast ascending the upper bracket of ageism, "Shorty" Fessler handles ladders as easily as pillows. While fishing with Jim and Harry Evans at Mud lake some years ago, a huge water snake crawled into their boat. It was upset in their effort to escape the reptile. Owen Fox says that snakes are toughened by the heat. He further says that it is not unusual to see them stretched at night on improved highways. This is because cement is cool at night. Pat Hennessey, who was indisposed during the wintry months, is back at his old stand. Pat was born near the River Shannon, Erin. Toughie Copple is a hot baseball fan. Harper Dick, ex-harsh horse driver, yet maintains a sprightly step. Clyde Shoaf, another horseman, helped Joe Rick get his pacers and trotters in shape. When the New Castle Fair track (now the Rick stock farm) operated, patrons didn't have to travel to see the horses trot and pace. They now travel to Wheeling Downs to see the runners. The Jefferson A.C. will move into their new quarters in East Washington street next week.

Lawrence Indies have been playing good ball during the past two weeks and Sunday afternoon at Wampum will attempt to set-back the league leaders, who possess a 25-6 record.

It will be a clash between Indies' stars, Sessions, Costello, Andrews, Boak, Gall, Dado, Troppe and Mossy, opposed to Pasallaro, Vance, Leopardo, Semarsky, Powell, Brown, Hairhogger, Huffman and McCready.

Indications are Manager Zidow will toss either Ginnocchio, Hughes or Burkes on the hill against Wampum's Boak or McCready.

Second place Universal A. A. will play at West Pittsburg. Manager Gennock has several hurlers—Hoch, Snow or Latsko—to oppose Johnny DeMonaco's Noga, Allegro or Ferrante.

Four Universals, Pete Razzano and Bing Markey have hit four home runs each, while Fuzzy Fazio and Red Conti have poled seven circuit smashes, and every-

Ross is doing nicely following a critical operation. Palus is now a resident of Westport, O. They occupied a feature spot on local programs. Another pair which went "big" with the football public were Bill Chill and Frankie De Lillo. Bill and Frankie delivered catchy vocal numbers between halves at Ne-Ca-Hi grid clashes. Bill resides in Youngstown and Frankie in Baltimore. In their day the Charleston was the rage and many girls participated in a contest at a local theater. Although they're aging, two who can yet sling their feet to music are Wayne Sines and Wayne Cannon. Harkening back decades, one recalls the Leff & Silverman, New Year's dinner to Newsboys, following which a vaudeville show was conducted in the now gone Carnegie auditorium. Several of the young folk later made good in vaudeville. In those days the late Bill Jones, nicknamed the ivories on a piano to the enjoyment of audiences. Minstrel shows were staged locally which attracted pleased crowds. Bill Nyck of near Ellwood City will be remembered for hitting long balls for the Castle Cords which boasted of Frank Mills, Conway, Kramer, Milan, La Longe, Markie, Reebie, Davies, Rittelman, et al. Among the poor shooters, Merriman, Dixon, Poplar, O'Loughlin et al. were among tops. Earl McCormick was getting started as a top bowler. The city was yet noted for its pugilists, some of whom had seen better days fiscally. The Lawrence County league was born in the 20's and while it is not operating this year because of the war emergency, it has operated every season excepting two, and possibly three years. Billy Glenn had a peanut wagon at Apple Alley which was the hang-out of sportsmen. Cascade Park was a favored spot and drew good crowds. Josie, a comely tray girl, at a local night club, says she hopes to see the grapplers in person August 24. She's a devotee of sports. Some local "gals", having no pools here in which to swim, are doing it over-hand and breast-stroke at Sandy Lake.

E. GENE SCHWEINSBERG and Joe O'Leary are hustling the American Legion games here August 1. There will be scouts from many major loop teams watching youthful diamonders. Billy Pozza is an Ellwood City "coop". The WPIAL will permit trials to start on August 18, two weeks prior to September 1. BPOE No. 69, no doubt, will again have a Quarterback club, at which gridders of Ne-Ca-Hi will be present as guests this fall, and winter. A. Goff Harbert, Moose lodge secretary, is an ex-brass pounder, or telegrapher. Although he's fast ascending the upper bracket of ageism, "Shorty" Fessler handles ladders as easily as pillows. While fishing with Jim and Harry Evans at Mud lake some years ago, a huge water snake crawled into their boat. It was upset in their effort to escape the reptile. Owen Fox says that snakes are toughened by the heat. He further says that it is not unusual to see them stretched at night on improved highways. This is because cement is cool at night. Pat Hennessey, who was indisposed during the wintry months, is back at his old stand. Pat was born near the River Shannon, Erin. Toughie Copple is a hot baseball fan. Harper Dick, ex-harsh horse driver, yet maintains a sprightly step. Clyde Shoaf, another horseman, helped Joe Rick get his pacers and trotters in shape. When the New Castle Fair track (now the Rick stock farm) operated, patrons didn't have to travel to see the horses trot and pace. They now travel to Wheeling Downs to see the runners. The Jefferson A.C. will move into their new quarters in East Washington street next week.

Registrations Are Now Being Handled For Tennis Tourney

Registrations for the New Castle tennis tournament are now being handled at the Sporting Goods Store on North Mercer street. Art Alexander, who is in charge of tournament procedure, today announced that locally, Gaston Park and George Washington tennis courts are available.

Once pairings are made, however, players will be allowed to play on courts of their choice.

DeCarbos Stop Units In Mercantile League

Universals continued to slump in Mercantile softball, dropping a decision to DeCarbos 12-7. Russ Headland spaced 12 hits for the winners, while Carbone and Bees were tagged for 19.

Gociano slapped a homerun for DeCarbos.

BUSINESS COLLEGE WINS
New Castle Business College stopped New Castle Store 5-4 behind the effective pitching of Rose. Perry was charged with the loss. Mitchell, Gabringer, Gibson, and Frey hit well for NCS, and Marks, Isaac, Carbone, and McCormick for the winners.

STOP BELL TELEPHONE
Kennedy, Nicera, and Smith led an extra-base hitting attack against the Bell Telephone, as B. & O. picked up an 11-7 win.

Endress homered for Bell Telephone.

Kennedy was the pitching winner, and Legge the loser.

Locals Move Up In Valley Tourney

Tom Jones, Manny Koginos, Dan Montozzi, and Bob Sturgeon, of New Castle, all reached the quarter-finals in the Allegheny open tennis tourney, after play on Friday night.

Koginos eliminated the first local player, when he stopped Missey in straight sets. Montozzi and Sturgeon will meet tonight to force further elimination of a New Castle player.

Turnpike To Be Extended

No Change Planned In Eastern Extension

HARRISBURG, July 28.—(INS)—Plans for construction of toll roads in many other states may have fallen victim of the defense program but the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission does not anticipate a change to its proposed extension to the New Jersey border. Material shortages, especially steel, is responsible for scrapping other super-highways but a spokesman for the commission said the road in Pennsylvania will be extended from the present terminus at King of Prussia to the banks of the Delaware river unless there is an all out mobilization. Engineers are busy determining the exact route of the extension which will meet a similar road in New Jersey. The two high-speed thoroughfares will be joined by a bridge over the river. Authority for construction of the last link in the border-to-border road was approved by the 1951 General Assembly. Completion of the western extension from Irwin to the Ohio border will be finished by fall. It is understood that Ohio shelved the idea of extending the Pennsylvania turnpike through to the Indiana border.

Fewer employees have been injured on the job although the state highways department is in the midst of a record volume of construction projects. Safety engineer F. E. Goodhart reports that the frequency rate of accidents dropped from 8.5 to 6.5 during the last fiscal year. . . . The record was achieved during more than 33 million man hours worked. . . . The standard will be used until the end of the next fiscal year.

Deputy Welfare secretary William Denison, one time legislative news man, was the subject of a biography in the latest department newsletter—the like of which he will probably want to show his children, grandchildren and even great-grandchild. The profile was written by Mrs. Isabella J. Jones, a department administrative assistant, who obviously has been a longtime admirer of Denison's ability. . . . In describing Denison, she sprinkled her prose liberally with such gems as "keen, alert and capable" and "young, able and energetic" and to really make the soap suds froth added this phrase: "amazing energy"—to a lengthy list of tried and true adjectives. Denison's amazing ability," says Mrs. Jones, resulted in the department being turned inside out with "moth-eaten meth-ods" thrown in the ashen in favor of "a new, clean, forceful and economical administration".

The recent primary proved that political organizations never can gauge accurately the pulse of the voting public. . . . The prime example was the overwhelming victory hammered out by Allegheny County Judge Michael A. Musmanno as the Democratic candidate for the State Supreme Court. . . . The colorful "Mike" piled up a 75,000 plurality over incumbent Justice Grover C. Ladner. . . . Ladner was running with the support of the party's high command plus the editorial backing of most of the commonwealth's newspapers. . . . But whereas Ladner did not press his campaign, Musmanno hit the road and spoke in every section of the state, seeking votes which paved the way for his victory. . . . The campaign also brought out that organizational endorsement does not impress the voters. Witness Senate Majority Leader John M. Walker, who is on the outs with Governor Fine, but led GOP balloting in his successful bid as a Republican nominee for the Allegheny county commission.

New Wilmington W.C.T.U.
Members of the New Wilmington branch of the WCTU heard a first hand account of the World Council of the organization when they met at the home of Mrs. Nyrion Ligo Wednesday afternoon. The local delegate was Mrs. Alonzo Hope who attended the council held in Hastings, England, during the past year.

The opening feature of the Wednesday meeting was a picnic dinner served on the 'Ide Lawn of the Ligo home. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Clarence McFarland, Mrs. W. C. Brownlee, Mrs. William McElwee, Mrs. Will Orr, and Mrs. Thomas Sarver. Mrs. McFarland, recently elected president, was in charge of the business meeting and devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Will Orr. Her topic dealt with the various persons who had influenced her way of life. The guest speaker, Mrs. Hope, was introduced by Mrs. Thomas Sarver. The talk was an interesting combination of the account of the trip taken by the ninety-two delegates from the United States, and the reports of the council meetings. Nineteen members of the New Wilmington branch attended the picnic and meeting at the Ligo home.

Volant W. C. T. U.
Volant Woman's Christian Temperance Union met on Friday afternoon in the Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock. The meeting opened with the worship service conducted by Mrs. Florence Miller. Prayer was made by Mrs. Hazel Clark. Mrs. Miller read a poem, "If Nobody Cared", and closed the worship service with a meditation on "Peace".

An article on "Grape Juice" was given by Mrs. Myra McConnell and discussed. "Three Things" necessary in a home was read by Mrs. Hettie Johnston. Mrs. Leora Arrow gave an interesting reading, "Not on the cocktail circuit". "Requirements for church membership in Angola" as compared to our own country was read and discussed by the group. In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. B. Marett, the vice president, Mrs. Leora Arrow, presided at the business meeting. Various subjects were discussed, including plans to attend the county WCTU meeting on August 2 in the Epworth Methodist church, New Castle.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Picnic Kit

If your family is one that likes picnics, here's an idea you all may want to work out together. It's a picnic kit, equipped with all sorts of things that will make it easy to pick up and go to favorite picnic spots. A sturdy wooden box or basket is the first essential. You may or may not want to decorate it appropriately. At any rate, it should be large enough for covered square bottles to hold salt, pepper, sugar and other such ingredients. There should be a waterproof box or can for matches. Paper napkins and towels have their place, too. And, of course, plates and cups—paper or otherwise. Knives, forks and spoons may be added from your regular supply or kept in the kit all the time. A sunburn remedy should surely be included along with a regular first-aid kit. Some families keep a ball or other simple play equipment in with the other things. Perhaps, even a simple puzzle or two or other pastime for quiet moments can be tucked in. Every family will have its own ideas as to what should make up the kit. And it's not a bad idea to make one of the junior members of the family the Lord High Keeper of the Picnic Kit.

Plucking Eyebrows Called Bad Idea

LONDON.—(INS)—A South African eye surgeon, Dr. A. W. S. Sichel, warned women not to pluck their eyebrows. Dr. Sichel said in an address to the British Medical Association: "Nature provided the eyebrows to divert the drops of perspiration which course down the forehead from entering the eyes. It would be just as reasonable to tear down the gutters from the roof of a building as pluck the eyebrows."
